Tina Lutfiu always wanted to go into business for herself to follow in the footsteps of her sisters, both restaurant owners themselves, but the timing was never right. Finally, the opportunity presented itself for her to purchase an empty coffee house off State 57 in Plymouth and she jumped at the chance. The quiet surroundings of Plymouth are quite a change for her, having moved to the area from downtown Chicago, but one she welcomes. Kismet Cafe opened its doors a little more than two weeks ago and Lutfiu is enjoying learning the ropes with the support of her family. The name "Kismet," it seems, is fitting for her shop. For Lutfiu, this is her destiny. — Review photos by Abby Lynn Harvey
